

Breaking News

Tortoise and Hare Race: Who won?
TOP STORY
pg. 1

Bear's Story: Why Hare Lost
pg. 1

New Jungle Gym Opens: Win Your Race Against Predation
pg. 1

Poll of the Week:

Which came first, the chicken or the egg?

Tortoise Wins by a Hare!

By Penney the Pig

Tortoise beat Hare to the finish line after 12 grueling hours of race. The red-flagged course twisted and turned for 6 miles from start to finish. Tortoise finished the race in 12 hours exactly, while Hare finished the in 12.003 hours. When asked what made the difference, Tortoise said, "It was the support of my friends, especially Rooster, Raccoon and Frog." Tortoise was able to more than double the speed of average giant tortoises (0.2 mph) and ran at a constant rate of 0.5 miles per hour. "I feel like a winner," said Tortoise.

"Slow and steady wins the race."

By Guest Writer, Barney the Bear

Let me tell you why Hare lost. He ran the two miles to my house in exactly one hour and then stopped to have lemonade with me. I saw tortoise coming so Hare took off. Mouse told me he ran the mile to his house in an hour and stayed for an hour snacking on cheese. When Mouse saw Tortoise, Hare finished and took off again.

Beaver saw him run the two miles to the pond in one hour and then Hare slept for four hours before the cheering woke him up. Hare said he took off as fast as he could hop but he was a little groggy and tired still. Tortoise beat Hare by about 10 seconds. The moral of my story is: Slow and steady wins the race!

New Jungle Gym to Open Next Month

Rooster, Raccon an Frog are opening the Jungle Gym July 4, 2008. Sign up for your perfect predation-prevention program today!

Weight Training: Rooster
Speed Training: Frog
Nutritionist: Raccoon

Hours: 6:00 AM to 8:00 PM

